JUDGE SAMPSON OF BARBOURVILLE IS CHIEF JUSTICE

Succeeds Judge Hurt as Head of State Supreme Court. Harlan and Pineville Attorneys Send Judge Sampson Tributes.

McCANDLESS NEW JUDGE FROM THE THIRD DISTRICT.

By Associated Press.
FRANKFORT, Jan. 2.—Chief Justice Rollin Hurt retired from the court of appeals today and Justice Flem D. Sampson, Barbourville, became Chief Justice. Judge J. A. McCandless, Mumfordsville, was sworn in to succeed Hurt in third appellate district. Members presented Hurt with silver pitcher. Many floral tributes were received by both Hurt and Sampson. Harlan county attorneys also sent Sampson a gold fountain pen.

By Associated Press
Pineville, Jan. 1.—The members of the Pineville bar this morning sent a beautiful floral tribute to be placed on the desk of Judge Flem D. Sampson of Barbourville, who, by virtue of seniority of office, today becomes Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals of Kentucky for 1923.

PROMISE ARREST IN HENDERSON MURDER

Officials Say Dim Trail Leading From Garage to Cross Street Best Clue.

By Associated Press.
HENDERSON, Jan. 2.—With an arrest promised for today in connection with the mysterious murder last Sunday of Gus Noffsinger, general manager of the South and coal company, movements of investigators today were closely watched for indications when the denouncement would come. Officials declared last night an arrest might be expected within twelve hours. They said a dim trail leading from the garage where the body was found through an alley to a cross street might prove the most valuable clue. Mystery continues to cloud the motive for the murder.

DR. GRAY CALLED TO LEXINGTON, KY.

Unanimous Invitation Extended Local Minister to Maxwell St. Church There.

The Maxwell street Presbyterian church, the largest of the denomination in Lexington, Ky., has extended a unanimous call to Dr. Johnson Archer Gray, of the First Presbyterian church, of this city, to become its pastor. Dr. Gray has not as yet accepted the call, but has it under serious consideration. The Maxwell street church is in the heart of the city just on the edge of the downtown district, and is the best equipped church in the state. The edifice is ten years old, with an auditorium that seats a thousand people, finished in mahogany, and with a great organ installed last year. The church has been without a pastor for eighteen months, since Dr. Gillespie was called to the First church in Louisville, and they have since been seeking an outstanding man to take the leadership of the church. Dr. Gray's name has been before the committee for nearly a year. The Sunday school is perhaps the best conducted in any part of the state. Dr. Thomas Talbot, the famous Sunday school expert, being a member of this church and unusually active in the Sunday school. There are fifty separate class rooms, five of them for the primary department. Community rooms, choir rooms, and pastor's study as well as parlors for both men and women are part of the equipment. The membership is nearly six hundred, five minutes walk from the University of Kentucky, and the music is one feature of the church. Some of the leading business and professional men make up the membership of the church, and many professors and students make this their church home. Dr. and Mrs. Gray will visit Lexington in the near future and make a careful study of the field before Dr. Gray makes a definite decision regarding the church.

NOTED AMERICANS SUGGEST NEW YEAR RESOLUTIONS

"Return To Faith Of Fathers" Says Sunday "Save America for Americans" Says Porter

"REPEAL VOLSTEAD ACT" SAYS COBB HUMORIST

There should be no resolutions to be made in the new year, according to a humorous representative of various nationalities, Jack Sawyer, producer recently, at a wide range of ideas. With him you may agree on disagree, but at least your own thoughts will be stimulated. What do you think is most important for the nation to resolve as it enters on 1923?

ALICE RACE, suffragist, head of National Woman's Party. America's foremost New Year resolution should be, I think, that our country should during this coming year remove all political, civil, legal, economic and other discriminations against women, so that shall no longer be in any form of subjection to men in law or custom, but shall in every way be on an equal plane in rights, as they have always been and will continue to be, in responsibilities and obligations.

Roy A. Haynes, federal prohibition commissioner: As a nation we should solemnly resolve that we will not knowingly violate any of the laws of the "land" that we will hold sacred the Constitution of our country. We should covenant with ourselves that we will not encourage others to disregard our laws, even though it be remaining silent when our laws are violated. We should pledge ourselves not alone to law observance, but also to the aim and purpose of militant Americanism, which devotes its best effort to prevent lawlessness, to promote reverence for law and to create an abiding devotion to the free institutions of our Beloved Republic.

Irvin S. Cobb, humorist: To repeal the Volstead Act Hendrick Wilhelm Von Loon, lecturer, author of "The Story of Mankind": To let all decent people find their own salvation after their own fashion.

Less Selfishness In U. S.

Hubert Work, postmaster general: That there shall be in America during the new year less selfishness and more cooperation, less repression and more freedom, more "we can do it" and less "it can't be done."

Harry Pratt Judson, president of the University of Chicago: 1. To make fewer new laws. 2. To respect and enforce those now on the statute books. 3. To be less eager for radical changes in the Constitution of the United States.

Warren A. Candler, Atlanta, chancellor of Emory College, and Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church: The resolution that our country will not continue longer the foolish and futile attempt to live unto itself. No nation, as well as no man, can live unto itself or die unto itself.

Charles P. Steinmetz, electrical engineer and sociologist: Let us mind our own business and keep from trying to mind that of the rest of the world, Europe in particular.

Lothrop Stoddard, author and authority in the Near East: To look facts in the face both at home and abroad. Most Reverend Patrick J. Hayes, Archbishop of New York: To promote the spirit of Lincoln, whose "charity toward all, with malice toward none," should be a fundamental principle of our national life. Liberty, peace and the pursuit of happiness are seriously mentally, natural, racial and religious hatreds. The unity and integrity of the Republic is based on giving all citizens a fair American chance. To do otherwise means a year not of progress but of reaction in American ideals. Charles F. Marvin, chief of the United States Weather Bureau: Stop the pursuit of selfish interests and dreams and go to work for the work sake and the welfare of humanity. M. L. Burton, president of the University of Michigan: America, if she is to realize on her invested hopes and aspirations, must be world-minded. As we approach a new year, we must resolve anew to do our part in solving the problems of civilization. If practical leadership does not find expression in America, where may we turn with hope? Michael I. Pupin, professor of electro-mechanics, Columbia University: We should make every effort to find a way by which we can employ our wealth, our stored-up intelligence, and our moral power for the purpose of helping Europe to emerge from its present chaotic condition. Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, president of Leland Stanford University: To play a more active part in the international relations. Blay Sunday's Resolution William A. Sunday, evangelist: America should resolve to return to the faith of our fathers, to put his foot into every heart, home and school, to wear respect for law and order, a new loyalty to the constitution and un-compromising antagonism to every man and thing opposed to the flag. Gene Stratton Porter, author: To save America for Americans. By which I mean that at the present appalling decrease in the birth rate of purely American families, and the equally appalling increase in the birth rate of foreigners coming to our shores to be naturalized, it will take only one or two more generations to put our government and institutions into the majority power of people having no understanding of, or love for, things indigenous to American soil, character and institutions. Will H. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Directors of America, ex-postmaster general: America needs but one resolution for 1923 or for 2023—and that is to be SPEEDILY AMERICAN. John Barton Payne, lawyer, chairman of the American Red Cross: To study and understand American institutions, what they are and why they are brought into being, and how completely they solve our present problems if rightly understood and sympathetically but thoroughly observed. William F. Anderson, Cincinnati, Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church: I would say that America should formulate her New Year resolution something after this fashion: As Americans we are grateful to Almighty God for His providential leadership and we will accept the responsibility in the spirit of service to all mankind; seeking always the guidance and help of Him who holds in His hands the destinies of all people of the world. Better Industrial Relationship John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America: A more just and humane industrial relationship; a practical application of the theory that the worker has an inherent right to strive for his material uplift. Clarence S. Darrow, famous defense attorney: The restoration of Freedom of Speech and the Press. Frank M. Goodchild, pastor of Central Baptist Church, New York City: There is no resolution America so much needs as the resolution to be thoroughly honest; making the wares that are to be sold as good in quality as possible, and exacting for these goods only the cost of production and a reasonable margin of profit. A revival of common honesty would transform our land, making the life of all better and happier. It is to be feared that such a revival is not likely, for Shakespeare said that when the world grows honest, doomsday is near! Nathan Straus, philanthropist: To stop the appalling waste of life. Not by doubtful cures, but by positive prevention of diseases. Foremost among preventive measures ranks the pasteurization of the milk supply. It kills the germs of tuberculosis, ty-

ACT OWNERS WITHOUT 1923 LICENSES SUBJECT TO FINE

Automobile license tags are being issued today in the commissioners office of the city hall to residents of Middlesboro and vicinity who have not yet bought them. F. S. Broughton of Pineville is in charge of this work. He is assisted by Miss Laura Rice, also of Pineville. About fifty tags were sold this morning and the indications were that the supply would be exhausted before the end of the day. Mr. Broughton says that he will also be here next Thursday if he does not finish the work today. Most of the automobile owners procured their license tags at Pineville before the first of the year, according to Mr. Broughton. Those running without the 1923 tags are subject to a $100 fine. It is estimated that about $22,000 will be derived from the automobile license tax this year in Bell county. There are said to be about 1400 cars and trucks in the county. New Year celebrations were unattended by any fatalities or injuries in Middlesboro and vicinity, according to police officers. Only eight arrests were made from Saturday to Monday evening, a number that is no larger than usually falls into the police dragnet over the week-end.

About 25 children are said to have gathered at the new Junction school house this morning, thinking that school would begin there today. Later in the morning they were informed that the opening of the school there would not take place for a few weeks. phoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria, and prevents intestinal infection of infants. Pasteurization has the remarkable quality, while killing all noxious germs, of retaining the nutritive and digestive properties of the milk. I make this statement from 30 years of experience and of results obtained in both hemispheres. Wherever milk pasteurization has been introduced, the death rate has fallen as if by magic. Luther Burbank, naturalist, originator of new fruits and flowers: To work more and talk less. To have more faith in ourselves and less in what the other fellow has to say. To thank ourselves and not to let our thoughts be only a readjustment of old prejudices. To look for light and knowledge wherever found without regard to their sources. If a race has not acquired and stored among its hereditary tendencies sufficient perseverance and adaptability to meet all the changes to which it must always be subjected by its ever-changing environment, it will be left behind and finally destroyed. Outstripped by races better equipped for the fray. David Wark Griffith, motion picture producer: To be tolerant, in the ablest sense; patient and discerning with the full-voiced outcries of the few; protective and broadening to the calmer moments of the many; to regard the world as motherhood constantly renewing the host that advances; to accept all peoples as a brotherhood, uniting, above the petty if necessary wherefore of the hour, in that precious philosophy of Christ, "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." Walter Camp, athletic authority: To work hard and keep well.

CUT REPARATION AND MORATORIUM FOR TWO YEARS

Would Exact Productive Guarantee From Germans. U. S. State Department Says Non-War Pact Not Official.

NOTHING TO INDICATE WHAT FRENCH ATTITUDE WILL BE.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 2.—Premier Poincare at today's session of the conference attended leaders offered a proposal for the reduction of German reparations to fifty billion gold marks. He offered two years moratorium, but expects a productive guarantee to insure later resumption of payment by the Germans. Under the French plan cash bonds will be used to extinguish territorial debts.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—State department announced today that the German proposal for agreeing under which France, Great Britain, Italy and Germany should solemnly agree among themselves not to wage war on the others in a generation. Authority of the plebiscite had not been transmitted to the French government formally as an informal inquiry it was brought out that the proposal is not acceptable to France. The announcement is the first the state department has permitted to escape officials in regard to the German proposal. They would add nothing today and there is nothing to indicate if France would agree whether the United States would have accepted the responsibility.

FALL RESIGNATION EFFECTIVE MARCH 4

Secretary of Interior Explains Move as Due to Pressure of Private Business.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 2.—Secretary Fall of the Interior department will resign his office March 4 it was announced today. He said the retirement was due to pressure of private business interests. President Harding is said to have offered him a place on the supreme court but he refused.

This is believed to be the only photo in existence of Thomas Richards, the young automobile mechanic who, it is charged, was kidnapped, beaten and slain by the masked night-riders of Mer Rouge. Richards body, with that of Watt Daniel, was discovered in Lake La-Poudre.

A THOUGHT

Thou crownest the year with thy goodness.—Psalm 65:11

In your occupations try to possess your soul in peace. It is not a good plan to be in haste to perform any action that may be the sooner over.
On the contrary you should accustom yourself to do whatever you have to do with tranquility, in order that you may retain the possession of yourself, and of settled peace.—Madame Guyon.

YOU
IN 1923

What does 1923 hold in store for you? Better things in a money way, probably, for the outlook is that there will be more prosperity to be divided among the American people.

As for other things that go to make up happiness, a good thought with which to start the new year is that life is what we make it, and real happiness a condition of the heart and mind.

Ahead, then, with pep! Time is giving us a new deal with the cards.
Forget mistakes of 1922 and begin afresh.

The start of a new year is always fascinating, because it opens the door of the unknown. The curtain rises on a new act of the eternal drama, life.

The plot is not cut and dried in advance. You, as one of the actors, help shape it. Many who starred in previous acts will fade to the back of the stage—or be carried out through the wings, stilled forever.
The lead roles are always changing.

What new Mansfield or Irving or Bernhardt will spring into the limelight and fame in 1923? No one knows. The future is veiled.

More than any year of the past, 1923 holds promise for great spectacular events in man's penetration of the unknown.

A powerful undercurrent became evident in humanity during 1922—a spiritual awakening became evident in the hereafter and in our purpose here on earth, and that mysterious depth known as the subconscious mind.

Psycho-analysis and similar phenomena, incorrectly called "crazes," are leading up to some sensational new development for humanity at large.

Shall we, in 1923, talk with Mars or Venus by radio or mental waves?

Shall we discover new psychic powers that have been lying dormant in us, waiting until Destiny is ready for us to use them? All of us have been vaguely conscious that such intuitive powers exist. Occasionally they penetrate that no one can satisfactorily explain.

The World War, titanic struggle, was the forerunner of something new and tremendous. Great spiritual or psychic forces shook civilization to its foundation. Leading up to—end of 1923. Forward, across the threshold of the unknown.

IS THERE AN INTEL-LECTUAL ARISTOCRACY?

Those who look about from the juncture of achievement, whether that attainment be one of intellectuality, wealth, genius, or temporal power, are inclined to believe, and to impart the belief, that it is through the processes and methods which they have adopted and applied that the great problems of the world may best be solved. The observer is persuaded to believe that as there is an aristocracy of wealth, and aristocracy of genius, and an aristocracy of power, so also is an aristocracy of intellect, or of intellectuality, of the intelligentsia, as those of the class are sometimes referred to. He is led to believe that all endeavor, unless directed and supervised by those of one or another of the classes regarded as aristocratic, is futile and fore-doomed to failure.

At the moment, when a solution is being sought for the problems which perplex the people of the world, the reassuring invitation is extended to refer these problems to those comprising what President Hopkins of Dartmouth College designates as an "aristocracy of brains." This aristocracy, he is quoted as saying, will lead the world out of the dilemma that now oppresses it.

Is it true?
Is it true, as asserted, that to the intelligentsia belongs the credit for the overthrow of the czar system in Russia? Was it an "aristocracy of intellect" that brought about the French Revolution? Did the intellectuals, as a class or as an aristocracy, accomplish the abolition of slavery in the United States? It is undoubtedly true, as President Hopkins asserts, that the serfs did not rise up of themselves and throw off the yoke of oppression, and likewise that the Negroes of the slave states did not bring about their own emunciation. The masses of France also were aided in the crusade by those who claimed to compose the "aristocracy of intellect."

And yet the term "aristocracy of intellect" is somewhat distasteful to those who are not regarded among the elect as having attained the intellectual status of aristocrats. Americans prefer to appraise themselves by some other standard. They shrink from a classification whose name smacks so strongly of something incongruous to a free democracy. They seem inclined to believe that if there is an aristocracy of intellect, with the limiting or inclusive lines fixed according to a standard indicated, not by intelligence, but by intellectuality.

This evident determination to make democracy, as it is understood in its broadest sense, the basis, rather than some undermined and fluctuating standard of intellectuality, may reasonably be defended, because it is, in fact, impossible to free such a standard from the dangers which are inherent in any aristocracy. The tendency of the class always is to contract, rather than to extend, its inclusive or limiting lines. Education, the ability to think aright, real intelligence, may sooner or later be displaced as the qualifying standards, and the willingness to think according to a formula be substituted.

Education is imperative. Of this there can be no doubt. But this means that education must be of the masses, not of the classes. It has not been made apparent that the colleges have acquired proficiency in turning out does it appear that those who might, if they chose, lay claim to such distinction of class as is suggested by the president of Dartmouth, have been foremost in solving humanity's great problems. It must be that in the future, as in the past, the really great accomplishments must be by those who have learned to see and think clearly. Among such there can be set up no aristocracy, either of in-tellectuality or of wealth.

GOLDEN
CHAINS

In the "Green Goddess" the rajah, acted by George Arliss, cunningly claims that there is no such thing as government without consent of the governed, though the people acconsenting to their being governed.

You see a better illustration of this in Holland, where Queen Wilhelmina next September will celebrate the 25th anniversary of her crowning.

She is a good queen, as queens average. Many think her exceptionally able and wise. The Dutch however are ruled by a queen only because they tolerate it. Toleration is consent. They could have a republic instead of government by a royal family, if they wanted it. The fact they haven't a republic proves that they consent not to have it.

Even the czars of Russia ruled by consent, the czar system vanished because the people withdrew their consent, the czar system vanished like snow on a hot stove. Consider once with which the kaiser and his family were dethroned when the Germans no longer consented to being governed.

Where you find a monarchy, you find the people liking monarchy and its trappings. They enjoy having a glittering leader symbolizing their united power and ability to support the magnificent. So the czars are not forced when royalty parades before the mob.

Conditions—lawless, reflect the composite or average of the majority of the people of a nation. Conditions parrot the people, no better, no worse.
The downtrodden subject cheers his ruler because the ruler represents what the slave would like to be himself.

Most of us have ourselves hypnotized into believing that we hate monarchies. But the average American has choice and you'll find him king instead of president.

So with millionaires. Most of us think a million is too much money for any one man. But how many of us would refuse a million? We tolerate millionaires, consent to them, because in our hearts we all want to be Rockefellers.

We support what we want to be.
We fall into pits which we dig for others.

The trouble is our ambitions or goals, in our ideals, rather than existing conditions—which merely symbolize what most of us crave.

They had a $350,000 fire in the Los Angeles movie section, which was already a pretty warm place.

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton

"Then just stick out your tongue!" smiled Dusty Coat.

Mike Mole sat at his front door just across from Munch Mouse's house in the basement of Maple Tree Flats.

Mike was lonely and sad. As he said, he hadn't seen a living soul hardly since cheeky Jack Frost came around. Cris Snow and old Oscar Owl were about the only ones, and dear knows, Mike said he would rather see a good case of ejizootie come his way than either of them.

Mike couldn't see so very well in the daylight, but he knew by Christianity "caw" and Oscar's hollow "noot" that his enemies were poking around looking for him.

Just this was the last of Mike's troubles. His little tum tum was almost empty, for he lived on earth worms and the earthworms and grubs had gone down ten feet under the ground at the first sign of Jack Frost, and stayed there. Mike was a good digger, but—ten feet! One would have to have hands like steam shovels to go that far.

"Well I s'pose winter has come to stay," said Mike.

"Who's talking to himself?" asked a voice.

It was Nancy and Nick followed by Dusty Coat, the little dwarf sandman.

"It's Mike Mole declared Nick.
"Hello!" said Mike happily. He liked Nancy and Nick and was always glad to see them. He was extra glad now as he was so lonely.

"Mike this is Mr. Dusty Coat. Mr.
Dusty Coat, this is Mr. Mike Mole," introduced Nancy.

"How d'y do," said both of them.
"Selling something?" asked Mike peering nearsightedly at Dusty Coat's bag.
"No," said the dwarf setting his bag of magic powder on the ground.
"Just giving something away. Something that's good for cold folks and hungry folks and lonely folks. Have some?"

"Yes," nodded Mike "I'm all three."
"Then just stick out your tongue!" smiled Dusty Coat.

Mike did so and Dusty Coat shook a little on. Mike began to look drowsy at once.

"He'll be asleep in a minute," said he, "so we'd better carry him into his house and tuck him in."

"He'll sleep till spring,"

THE RELAPSE

Berton Braley's Daily Poem

NOBODY HOME

By Berton Braley

In matters intellectual she's somewhat intellectual,

She's more or less a dumb-bell, as it were.

Her talk is sheer mania, her head is full of vanity,
And you like to run around with her.

Her cookery's deplorable but, oh, her smile adorable,
And there's a wondrous magic in her glance;

She's lacking in ability or any true utility,
But she's a floating feather in a dance!

She doesn't toil or spin at all or aid her married kin at all, She doesn't help her mother or her dad,

It keeps those parents hurrying and figuring and worrying To earn the dainty garb in which she's clad;

But when they see the pep of her, in every grace and step of her, Her loveliness, her airy-fairy style, The cannot view her fretfully; and somehow ungrudgingly

They feel that each cent they've spent is worth the while!

The butterfly is glorious, you don't become censorious
Because it doesn't labor at a task; Perhaps it is unutilitous, but if it's gay and beautiful

That's just about as much as you can ask.

And when a girl is kissable, with prettiness unmissable, Why moan because she isn't keen and

ONE-MAN WOMAN

By Ruth Agnes Abeling.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATE WARD, following her husband's death, returned from the city to her childhood village to care for her widower father, JUSTIN PARSONS, to their cottage came.

CHINATOWN ALICE with the story that Kate's dead husband, DAN WARD, was the father of Alice's child,

Dorothy. Later came the news that Dorothy was very ill and Kate visited Alice at the laundry of SING LOY, with whom the latter lived, to discuss what should be done for the child. Kate assumes that Alice is married to the laundry-man, at which Alice laughs.

GO ON WITH THE STORY
"I'm Sing Loy's wife just about as much as I was Dan Ward's wife!" Alice went on.

Kate Ward winced as if she had been struck.

"Then—why don't you leave—if you don't like it here?" she heard herself saying.

"Leave—leave—" Alice perched on the edge of the scarlet bed, her chin up-tilted, her eyes thoughtfl.

"Yes—I might leave—I might leave, meditatively, "and walk the streets looking for work during the day and sit on a park bench at night. Meanwhile Dorothy—" she broke off.

"Leave!" she began again. Dangerous lights were lurking in her eyes.
"Who have I got to leave for? And what could I do anyway? Here I get three square meals a day! Sure we all eat at the same table—as girls and our Chinese bosses and sometimes a cat or two! But we eat! And that counts."

"And who could I find," the words were tumbling out furiously, "who could I find that wouldn't cuss me out when I moved too slow or folded something wrong? Not any American boss!"

"It's easy here—anyway."
"And Sing," she was thoughtful again, "he's not such a bad sort. I woll—I guess I might even have loved him once if—"

Chinatown Alice's voice broke. She brushed her tears away with an embarrassed movement.

"Well—he's good to me, and I guess that's about all a woman can ask of any man."

"What'd you come to see me for?"
Alice asked suddenly.

"I thought there might be something—" she floundered, "something I could do."

"There is," said Alice. "Help me pay Dorothy's hospital expenses."

"I—I'd be glad to," Kate stammered, "but doesn't your husband, or Mr. Loy—help you?"

Alice turned on Kate like a fury.
"I'm playing a square game here with the little chick—just see how it feels to do it," she flashed. "I take what I earn. Nothing more!"

"I get $10 a week. I pay .66 for the room Dorothy and I live in. Our breakfasts costs us $2. We get dinner and supper here for nothing!
That leaves us $2 a week to see the white lights on!"

"It's a gay life, old girl!"
Kate resented the sudden return to coarseness.

"I'll see about the hospital expenses," she said as she rose to go.

Passing out through the dark passage, the ironing room and the stove, Kate found herself on the street again.
She dropped into a restaurant for dinner. Then sought her room, hoping in the quiet of the four walls to find some solace.

Impulse led her to the window.
She stood there as if fascinated.
Then started a measured pacing of the floor. She found it impossible to compose herself.

At length she found herself once more on the street and as if by some magnet force she was drawn toward a park across the way. She wondered vaguely why she was going there.

She seated herself, br back toward a growth of heavy foliage. Suddenly she felt the presence of another person.

fanger," said a Prussian government official during a debate in the Landtag

More and more Germans are re-gating that undernourishment is destroying the nation's greatest asset —its next generation

The German birth rate may compare favorably with neighboring countries but the question is whether those babies will reach healthy normal manhood and womanhood German doctors and vital statistics answer No

For my part I think Essen probably better worth study than Berlin Metropolis of the Ruhr district the Pittsburgh of Germany, with 500, 000 inhabitants it better illustrates But even in the Ruhr the cost of self

There is little unemployment in Essen. The workers draw better wages than in some other big cities the plight in which Germany finds herself makes many homes remain without adequate heat and is there a serious housing shortage people had die together. So Essen's death rate shows a steady increase

Out of every 1000 persons in Essen 1172 die and of these deaths 40 per cent are among those who should form the next generation

Dad, Ma and The Kids in School Together

Mr. and Mrs. Alphens Bray and their three children will be graduated together from the University of Oklahoma in the class of 24. Then the family will possess 14 diplomas and degrees. In the picture left to right: Bernice 16, Beatrice 16 (twins), Alphens Bray, Mrs. Bray and Otto 15.

Fisher, the health officer of Essen believes that to make out a case but the truth is horribly discouraging

Essen's health is worse than last year and death rate figures approach the worst times of the hunger blockade during the war

Despite increased wages the working people find it hard to purchase proper food. They can't give their children the very things they need the most—butter, milk, fat meat sugar

Many people with sickness in the house cannot afford a doctor or a nurse. What used to cost three marks per day now costs 300. It is beyond their means

In 43 German cities it was reported that 200,637 had tuberculosis and 57,573 were sickly owing to undernourishment

In Leipzig, 40,000 children are reported undernourished

In Bremen 27 per cent are tubercular and 32 per cent undernourished In Chemnitz 54 per cent are considerably undernourished, and 13 per cent badly so

In Karlsruhe 20 per cent of school children have scrofula, 21 per cent tuberculosis

Naturally, a henpecked man feels like a worm

STOP CATARRH! OPEN NOSTRILS AND HEAD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Relieves Head-Colds at Once.

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed and you can't breathe freely because of a cold or catarrh, just get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream into your nostrils and let it penetrate through every air passage of your head, soothing and healing the inflamed, swollen mucous membrane and you get instant relief.
Ah! How good it feels. Your nostrils are open, your head is clear, no more hawking, snuffling, blowing, no more headache, dizziness or struggling for breath. Ely's Cream Balm is just what sufferers from head colds and catarrh need. It's a delight.

SULPHUR CLEARS A PIMPLY SKIN

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickest by applying Mentho-Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.
Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive.
Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho Sulphur and use it like cold cream.

RED PEPPER HEAT ENDS RHEUMATISM

Red Pepper Rub takes the "ouch" from sore, stiff, aching joints. It can not hurt you, and it certainly stops that old rheumatism torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers. Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any good druggist for a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.

Drink Water If Kidneys Hurt

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back pains or Bladder bothers.

Too much meat may produce uric acid, says a well known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork, they get sluggish, the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood to poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back, or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night, when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning, and in a few days your kidneys may act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to help neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus often ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and can not injure, makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to help to keep the kidneys clean and active. Drink plenty of water at all times.

A Russian deer, one of a herd of 22 in the Lake Park Zoo, Worcester, Mass., eating apples from the hand of the caretaker, Cornelius O'Leary.

Divine Sarah Jests With Death

The mental attitude of Sarah Bernhardt toward the death which now threatens her is illustrated by this photograph taken before her present serious illness. She decided she would like to see how she would appear when dead. An elaborate coffin was ordered, Sarah was dressed in funeral garments and the above photograph was taken.

Smiles in Land of Tragedy

The extreme youth of the Irish militiamen is shown in this picture of a Free State motor patrol. Smiles as happy and carefree as those of American joy-riders are on the faces of these boys whose pictures were taken just after a fierce attack had been made by republican rebels on the Free State troops at Wellington Barracks.

Jim Corbett Back in Ring

"Gentleman Jim" made a brief return to the squared circle, not to face an opponent but to referee a bout between a couple of tissueweights in a Christmas Fund benefit. The two youngsters who did their stuff like veterans are Willie Wargo (right) and Harold Jensen (left). Now Willie's business-like cronch.

Stork Brings Twins to Royalty

Here are the first twins born in eight years to a member of the English royal family. They are little Lady Katherine Page (left) and her tiny brother, the Earl of Uxbridge, the offspring of the Marchioness of Anglesey. This is the first picture to be taken of them and was snapped while they were having their morning airing in the park.

Charley White Defeats Mitchell

This is how Charley White's great left hook ended his battle with Richie Mitchell at Madison Square Garden, New York City. Mitchell is shown above floored for the count of nine, the second time he was knocked down in the tenth.

A Thrill in Oxford-Cambridge Game

This "collaring" of an Oxford player was one of the thrilling moments in the English sport classic, the annual Oxford-Cambridge rugby game, recently played.

Flowers Of True Worth
In a quiet shady nook grows the sweetest kind of flower, the dear little violet, she droops her head at the nearest sign of a shower.

On out by the roadside is the wild rose.
In all pink dressed;
smiles at the travelers passing by seems to help the distressed.

They are meek and sweet as they can be,
Their little faces seem to smile they lift them up to the passerby, they see unhappy all the while.

There's a rose in the garden of a very bright red;
was once a wild rose it is said she is not half so sweet we are told
The little wild rose that grows by the road.

It's not always the flower the brightest hue that brightens the lives of me and you.

In life is it always the one gaudiest dressed who lifts the burdens of our troubled breasts.

Refusal
It is permissible to ask a letter of introduction if the person to whom the letter is addressed is so close a friend and it is certain he will be glad to comply or that no embarrassment will result if, for some reason, he refuses to do so.

Refusal gives no ground for offense. It may be caused by relations between the person asked and the one to whom the introduction is sought, or without reference to the seeker, on any event such a letter comes as a free-will offering.

New Years Banquet
The New Years Banquet and Banquet last night at the Hotel Cumberland was one of the most elaborate functions ever held in Middlesboro during the winter season.

Following the eight course dinner the guests were given choice of caps, balloons, horns, and streamers, which were lighted near the ceiling in the dining room and dancers threw strips of colored paper across them forming loops and gamers in and out of which to pass.

The chef had a display in the dining room which caused much comment.
The fisher three feet long was attractively garnished in every popular manner. The garden. Visitors commented during the evening that they had never seen such an elaborate display of work.

A large per cent of the dancers were out-of-town visitors. Among the visitors and parties were: Judge L. Mauring and party of eight, Mr. Rhorer and party of four,
Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ralston and party of six, Frank Frazer and party of Mrs. J. M. Rogan entertained this afternoon at her home on South Twenty-first street for the Tuesday Sewing Club and complimentary to the daughter of Mrs. Joe Rosenfield, Miss Barnett of St. Louis. One feature of the afternoon was a queer tea party contest. A salad course was served. About forty guests were invited.

Shower For
Mr. and Mrs. Seale
The Christian Endeavor of the

Three-Piece Costume
A three piece costume of black crepe, designed for early spring, is entirely covered with a design in black soutache braid. White satin collars and cuffs relieve the blackness.

High Coiffure
The high hair dress grows in favor.
Frequently a profusion of puffs and curls piled high on the head. Braids or coils of hair, tightly wound, outline the hair at the hair line. This is, of course, an evening coiffure.

Lingerie
Chinese embroidery is being applied now to lingerie as well as to blouses and gowns. Nightgowns are being made of two layers of chiffon and georgette, to give a changeable effect.

IMPORTANT TO ALL WOMEN
READERS OF THIS PAGE
Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.
Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.
You may suffer pain in the back,
headache and loss of ambition.
Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that
Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.
Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.

Is Money Ever "Spent" for Advertising?
A young and energetic executive took hold of a fine old retail business in New York.

"What this business needs," he told himself, "is a place in the mind of the public."

And deliberately he set out to sacrifice the greater volume of his profits and invest the sacrifice into the building of goodwill.

He did. And to this old business, advertising was the breath of life.

For six months had not passed before the business had grown so that the advertising cost was a smaller percentage than ever it had been, and, because of a larger volume, the shop effected economies and gave far superior service.

That was five years ago. Today a certain percentage is spent, or supposed to be spent for advertising. But as fast as the appropriation is spent the more the business increases; and the more that the business increases, the smaller the percentage becomes.

PEACH PUDDING WITH ALMONDS

By Bertha E. Shapleigh, of Columbia University

3 eggs
1-2 cup sugar
1-4 teaspoon salt
1-2 cups milk
1-2 cup chopped almonds 3 slices bread cut 1-2 inch in thickness
1 small can sliced peaches or 1 pint jar

Beat the eggs slightly and add the sugar, salt and milk. In this soak the bread slices which have been cut to fit the mold in which the pudding is to be cooked. Do not soak the bread too long or the pieces will lose their shape.

Butter a mold well and sprinkle the bottom and sides with the chopped almonds. Line sides, and cover bottom with the pieces of soaked bread and so on until the mold is filled. Pour any milk an egg remaining over all.
Cover with buttered paper and steam until custard is firm. Remove from mold, garnish with cherries if desired and serve with the juice of the peaches heated and flavored with one teaspoon vanilla and one-fourth teaspoon almond extract.

Thousands upon thousands of
women have kidney or bladder trouble
and never suspect it.
Women's complaints often prove to
be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the

result of kidney or bladder disease.
If the kidneys are not in a healthy
condition, they may cause the other
organs to become diseased.
You may suffer pain in the back,
headache and loss of ambition.
Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be dependent; it
makes any one so.

But hundreds of women claim that
Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved
to be just the remedy needed to over-

WORK

By Marian Hale

Work and food Arden prom-bent in the younger group of the Metropolitan Opera Company is the can the profession if women pay for work—and she must do it.

It means giving up things of passing people for things she can do without—giving up the ones she loves in order to be with the ones she is to know more.

Oh yes in our audience we hate to give up that old world and flood.

Men Paying, Too

Why?
Now that the screen has been pulled away and we find the troops on the other side we go hand with our eyes open.

Men realize that they have to pay new taxes. So men are paying, too.
The professional woman is paying, too, and happy.

She has her own pocketbook. She can waste. She can pay. She doesn't have to ask or explain to a man.
Above all she can give money on herself without asking—and is not that life itself?

This makes the pay with while As to men work doesn't affect the independent woman's attitude—although sometimes her job may.

IT ALL DEPENDS

If she works in a nursery she may ache for men. If she sees men all the time she may not. It depends on the girl.

Since time began men have wanted women and women have wanted men.

But today I find that women only take the men they want and not just the men who want them. They take men they want and love not merely men who can support them well.

I think this is a tremendous change. Because it is going to end love is a man's. Men may continue to support their wives but it will build on a different and more marriage.
Has this man not only have to HAVE something to get wives—they have to love them.
I think this change will increase the happiness of marriage.
What if women does pay?
What if she does pay more for her work? Is more for her to pay more for her mate, than man pays?

It makes her deeper to pay for the character stuff you get by paying.
is the only kind that characterizes you.
Morality? Frankly now is it not a case of how one is tempted? morality is individual not relative.
But as for the profession is the independent woman she has more power to know whether she has the right fiber or not. And for her to right she doesn't have to do the chance for self-testing!
(This is the third of a series of interviews in which brilliant men and women of the day answer the question: "Does the woman pay?")

Go Fishing On The Gulf Coast

Eight months of fishing and all kinds of fish! That's what you get on the Gulf Coast of Florida, Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, served by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad.

Fresh-water fishing in the innumerable bayous, rivers and lakes. Salt-water fishing right off the piers or out in the Gulf as far as you care to go. Tackle, bait, boats, guides and accommodations for a day, over night, or the whole season; in good hotels, comfortable boarding houses, public and private clubs and camps, or "on your own" picnic.

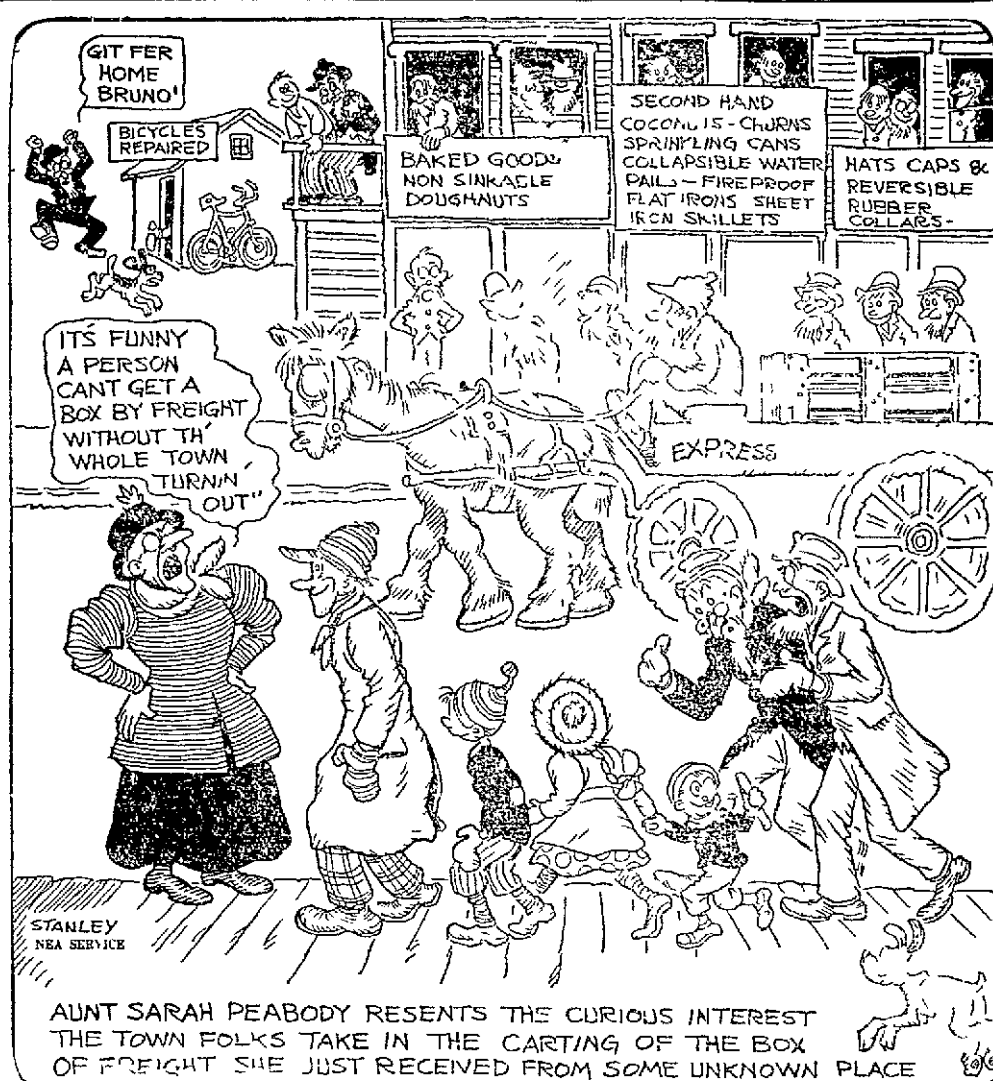

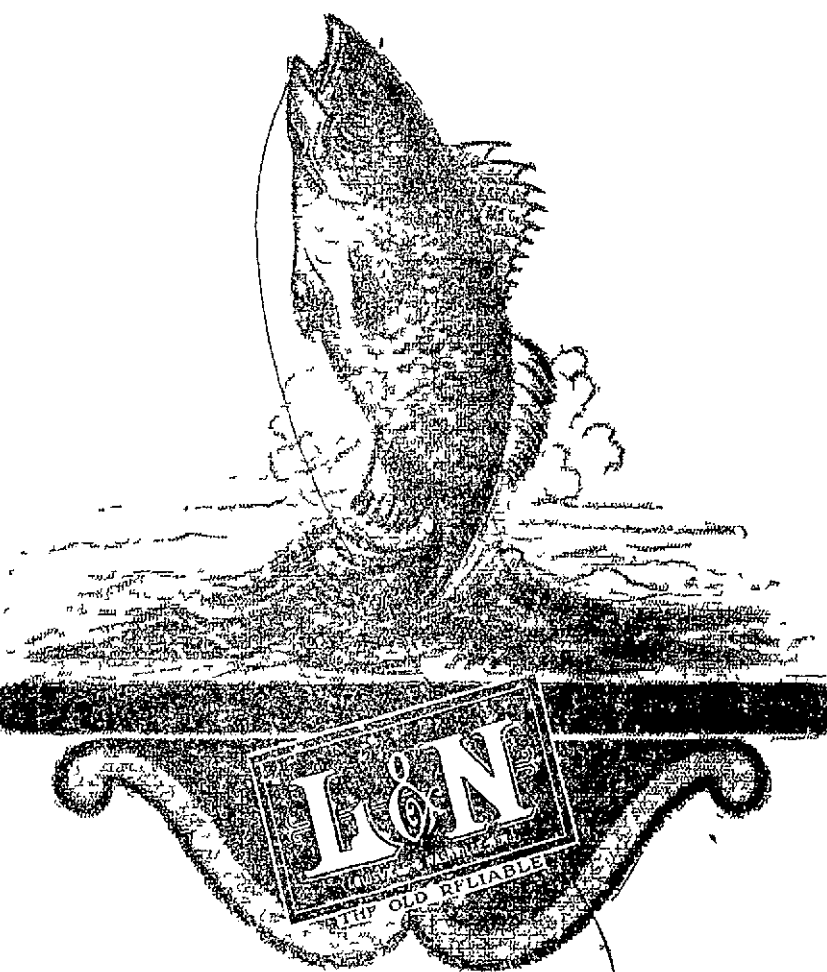

Green trout, speckled trout, bull croaker, red fish, black fish, black bass, sheepshead, Spanish croaker, amber jacks and maybe a tarpon (and you know you'll never die happy until you land one to have taxidermed, framed and hung on the wall of your office or den.)

Out in the boat, with rod across your knees, when you're loading up your pipe and thinking about the 20 pound red fish you're laying for, along comes a shark and starts towing you to Cuba or Mexico.

Then it's up anchor quick and let him ride, and if your tackle holds you get the thrill of your life and a tale to tell your grandsons when your fishing days are over.

Spearing flounders by torchlight and pulling in crabs any time of day all along the shore, takes you back to barefoot boyhood when carking care was a thing unknown, and fishin' was your principal occupation.

Come on Man! Let's shut up shop for a week, forget all about business, hop on an L. & N. train and go a fishin'!
